hip.e shake.

coral gables doesn't exactly make us think high fashion. the new boutique hip.e hopes to change the hood's reputation, though. bringing tracy reese, sworn virgins, vivienne tam, and paige premium denim to local soccer moms and socialites seems like a decent start. grand opening event may 17, 7 p.m. 359 miracle mile. at sw 42nd ave. 305.445.3693.

for those who don't have enough online distractions, the nomad eye is yet another way to dally away your "coffee break." you can click to buy unique jewelry, clothing, accessories and art, such as this hilos II linoleum block print ($250). www.thenomadeye.com

former page six-scribe and pain in ron burkle's arse, jared paul stern shows some sartorial swagger with his preppy-punk line, skull and bones. they offer polo tees ($75) that improve with each spilled gin and tonic and totes ($85) that scream "you can go to hell; i'm going to the country club." take that ralph lauren. store.skullandbonesjps.com mamma mia.

mother's day gifts? yawn. make those 36 hours of labor finally worth it with a personalized floral arrangement from karla conceptual event experiences. rad wrapped vases in all sorts of fabrics, and skins on a variety of vases, matched up with your choice of flowers. red ostrich skin paired with parrot tulips? who's yawning now? from $150. karla conceptual event experiences. 100 ne 25th st. near n. miami ave. 305.644.3555. www.karlaevents.com
